BY FED ROBINSON

"Everything happens for the best" is an old saying, and maybe it is true, but three's a lot of people in the world who believe tonight that Korea's president, Syngman Rhee has upset the apple cart for the UN forces by his refusal to go along with the best armistice terms we could get with the Communists. We remember when little Korea was overcome by the enemy we all wanted to lay down our work and hurry over there and stop the cruel invasion, and that was because we thought of the Korean leaders as helpless and humble and everyone wants to help out a humble people because the humble heart, free from pride and self-glory deserves a blessing and usually receives one. But now that Mr. Rhee has his bristles up and is saying what he will accept and what he will not accept in the way of peace terms, he has lost the sympathy if not the goodwill of a lot of folks. There was another man named David who upon hearing of the death in battle of this country's King Saul, and his son Jonathan, said "How are the mighty fallen" and it has been thus throughout all history that when a man becomes haughty in spirit he is coming closer to his down fall, no matter how big he thinks he is. Still another time there was a great King named Nebuchadnezzar, who built up such great power that he commanded and was obeyed by his every subject - except three men that is - to bow down on one knee every time they passed the king's statue, and who had said this "Is not this great Babylon, which I have built for the royal dwelling place, by the might of my power and for the glory of my majesty?" Well, there is still another named Hitler who boasted "I will build a German Reich that will last a thousand years." Both men, Nebuchadnezzar and Hitler were little men, puffed up with pride, building for the vain glory of men and they failed miserably in the end. Nebuchadnezzar became a pathetic picture when his reason departed from him and he thought he was a beast and lived like one. His close friends kept him hid from the people for seven years because of his condition. He sought to make of himself a god, and he became like a beast. Adolph Hitler is said to have killed himself to escape the humiliation of a broken and defeated ruler. The most disappointed people in the world are those who get what's coming to them.

Have you ever thought of the similarity of TIME and DISTANCE? Well, consider some loved one who by the course of human events are living far away and that distance, but also it means there will be a lot of time between visits because distance resolves into time and then it's certain it's true that time . . . days, weeks, months, seasons, have a way of spreading out distance between people. There is a kind of distance though, not measured by miles or meters and we are thinking of families that are very dear to each other, or should be, who live in the same town or on the same street, who very seldom go to the trouble of seeing each other. Perhaps the reason this seems so strange to us we have almost always lived far away from our only daughter and family and time and distance operating together have denied us so many happy hours we have wanted to spend with them. We were saddened this week to learn our Gerry and family were moving from Roswell, New Mexico to San Francisco almost immediately and would not be able to visit us this year. Well, what's a year or two, some one might say. I will tell you what it is . . . for us that is. It's a whole summer, and a fall season, then a long cold winter plus a long lazy spring . . . filled with draggy days and lingering nights of wishing and wanting . . . and that can be a very long time to wait for something you want very badly. Well, I think I'd rather our child lived on the other side of the world and WANT to see us, than live two blocks up our street and ignore us like some of the younger generation do their parents. Yes, time separates you and so does distance, and there is one difference - distance is a stationary, lasting thing whereas time runs out for us all and then one day there just isn't any more.

-SPORTSMAN'S COLUMN-
(By C. C. Hamby, Sr.)

More about the Game and Fish Commission. I do believe if I were Governor of Miss. I don't believe I would have made the statement that Gov. White did when he accused some of our Legislators as he did when he made the statement that some of them would vote for the necessary funds being transferred to the Dept. Only if their "PETS" were put back on. Speaking of Pets lets look at the history and look back at the record of the Game & Fish Commission when it was organized under Conner administration and Conner appointed only three men and these three men were picked by sportsmen, recommended by sportsmen whether they were Conner men or not they got the job. These three men were to serve until a new Governor was elected and mind you this new Governor only had the authority to appoint one commissioner, 2 remained and this was supposed to extend on down the years so as not to be a political football machine in this Dept. Now, when Gov. White was elected the first time he finally by scheming, shrewdness, promises and etc, got the legislative body to let him appoint 2 additional commissioners, this they did and it gave Gov. White control of the Dept, and he the one speaking about pets, tore the Game and Fish Commission wide open from Game Wardens on up the line by having complete control of who was appointed, with his PETS, and ever since this day on up to present day this Dept. has been messed up in Politic Pets and goes from bad to worse. Still on the subjects of Pets take a peep in the office in Jackson. Take a peep at the additional 16 in the office from the old set up, take a peep in the field and see the additional 15 or 17 supervisors that we have over the state from the old set up. Some of them are Colonels on Gov. White's staff. I don't believe I would said a word about Pets if I were Gov. White. Lets look into another subject, I believe I am right when I say, there is a enacted into a law by the legislative along these lines. In order for a person to be on the payroll, draw a salary out of the funds of the Game and Fish Dept. he must be able to put his entire time in this Dept. and he cannot hold any other position other than with the Game and Fish Dept. If this is the law the sportsmen over the state should get together and hire them a live wide awake smart lawyer and dig into the Game and Fish Dept. and see just how many if any that is drawing a salary from our funds illegally in this way and have them to reimburse the Dept. for illegally use of and illegal spending of our funds. You will be suprised. Pets Oh, No! Enough said, what I say dont amount to a dam thing nothing is ever said or done about but all I've said and wrote is the truth and the record will show it is.

Due to our Grenada Dam nearing completion and the natural flow of the Yalobusha River has now been turned through the tunnel I want to mention this: It is against the law to use dip nets, minnow seines or any other type of nets or seines in the spillway or outlet tunnel. It is also against the law for any kind or type of commercial fishing from the mouth of tunnel and extending for 5 miles down the river. This 5 miles will be established by the Game Warden. I'd say it reaches about the Bledsoe Place, just guessing the 5 mile limit.

The past two weeks all kind of fishing has picked up. Bass fishermen had some luck. I wont mention those that caught pee-wee bass, small Kentucky bass. J. T. Bailey caught a 5 3-4 lb. bass on Lucky 13 out of Hampton Lake. Bob Price caught a 6 1/4 lb. bass out of Robinson Bayou on yellow Shannon Spinner. Bob Hall and Bob Price caught around 17 bass 10 days ago out of Robinson Bayou on yellow Shannon Spinners, 6 of them weighed around 26 to 27 lbs. I've been informed that Robinson Bayou is muddy since the last big rain, also Tipito Basin below and including Alexander. Crappie fishing has been good in Hampton, and Fish Lakes and several other lakes, using red fins and small gold fish. The beam are still striking roaches, crickets and red worms. Stop by or phone the Shell Service Station for the latest dope.

CHICKEN BISCUIT SANDWICHES

The world has long recognized the superb cooking abilities of the South, and in summertime, our delightful varieties extend to the convenient sandwich.

When you want sandwiches for picnics or easy home serving, biscuits add flavor and make your work easier. Make an extra batch when preparing your meal-time bread, and you will be ready to make quick sandwiches for any occasion.

Of course, it is natural for us in the South to use biscuits for sandwiches, since they are our best loved bread. And, with self-rising flour, biscuits are easily and quickly made, for the miller has already added the baking powder ingredients and salt for us.

With biscuits on hand, or quickly baked with self-rising flour, it is easy to serve guests a Chicken Biscuit Sandwich, flavored with green peppers, mushrooms and celery. It is a delicious summer dish that will win praises for you. And it can be prepared from either left over or freshly cooked chicken.

Simmer 1/4 cup chopped green pepper and 1/4 cup chopped celery in 3 cups rich chicken broth. Make a smooth paste of 1/4 cup flour by adding sufficient water. Stir gradually into the hot chicken broth and vegetables and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add 3 cups cut up cooked chicken and 1 cup mushrooms, and cook over low heat until chicken is heated through.

Serve this delicious dish on fluffy, self-rising biscuits made by sifting 2 cups self rising flour, into which 3 tablespoons shortening are then cut until the texture of corn meal. Add 2/3 cup sweet milk all at once and stir until flour is well dampened. Knead lightly. Roll to 1/4 inch thickness, cut with 3 inch biscuit cutter, and bake on ungreased baking sheet in a hot oven (450° F.) for 12 minutes.

This recipe will give you eight biscuits and four generous servings of the delicious hot chicken for the Chicken Biscuit Sandwiches.

PUT YOUR HOME IN THE RIGHT LIGHT

Make sure the approach and entrance to the house are well lighted with weather proof fixtures. Outdoor lighting gives a warm, hospitable glow to your home. House numbers should be lighted and visible from the street if embarrassing mistakes are to be avoided.

The hall is where your friends receive their first impression of your home. Make it a good one by using light fixtures which give a friendly glow. Halls and stairways are dangerous if not properly lighted. Ceiling fixtures, pin-up wall lights and low intensity night lights all make for good visibility when properly placed. In addition to proper lighting, two-way light switches should be used for stairways.

In the living and dining rooms lighting should be adequate for each task. Check these activities and see that there is enough light. For reading, sewing and studying, the lamp should be equipped with a bulb of 100 to 300 watts. Lamps should be brought close to the work allowing light to flow directly on the work surface without casting shadows. Glass or plastic reflectors on floor and table lamps will aid in lighting glare.

If you are purchasing new lamp shades be sure they will not rob you of any of the light you are paying for. Besides being attractive they should be wide enough to spread light around a wide area and deep enough so that the bulbs are not visible beneath the shade. Never buy shades with dark linings because they absorb light instead of reflecting it. If you have parchment shades that are dark, they can be painted on the inside with white paint and will give off about 1/3 more light. If you find your lamp would look better and give better service if it were lacquer, paint or stain a block of wood, cut to size and place the lamp on the "block". The block will look like part of the lamp.

Lamps, shades and fixtures may drop as much as 50% in efficiency when covered with dust and dirt. Reflector bowls, lamp bulbs and shades should therefore be included in the daily dusting schedule. When silk shades become soiled it is a simple matter to wash the dirt away. Just be sure the covering and trimmings are sewn, not glued to the frame. Any trimming which you think might run should be removed. Fill a deep tub with warm water and mild soap suds, then slosh the lamp shade up and down in the soapy water. When it has become bright and fresh looking, rinse it with spray or by again dousing it up and down in clear water. Let the shades dry as quickly as possible by hanging in the yard out of the sun or by drying in the house with the help of your electric fan.

Parchment and paper shades may be waxed and made impervious to dust.

MP&L Company Plant Progressing.

Construction on Mississippi Power & Light Company's 300,000 horsepower steam electric generating station near Cleveland is progressing steadily and completion is expected during the latter part of this year.

Photo No. 1 (above) shows the structural steel towers for the two steam generating units. These two steel skeletons stand the height of a ten-story building and will house the mechanism used to produce steam.

No. 2 (right above) depicts the Gantry, or "spraddle," crane used for rapid repair on either generator. Moving up and down the pedestal, or foundation, upon which the generators are mounted the huge mobile "weight lifter" insures the speediest checking and repairing possible on the generators or "heart" of the electric station.

Insert No. 3 shows an aerial view of the plant service building (which will house the offices, shops, store and locker rooms), the heater deck, pedestal or foundation for generators, mobile crane, and in the background the station's 118 KV switch yard.

No. 4 shows the circulating water intake station on the mile-square reservoir lake. The concrete square in center foreground is a cooling tank or "tower" for the service water system. The two separate water systems are both designed on a maximum water conservation plan, each using its own water over and over and over again.

The $22,000,000 electric generating structure, scheduled for completion during the latter part of this year, will insure the western half of Mississippi an ample supply of power for all development and expansion for years to come.

Goose pimples broke out all over most of the supervisors when Judge Henry Rodgers began talking about sins of omission and commission of supervisors in OTHER counties.

Christian Home

Lesson for August 2, 1953

YOU can have a Christian town more easily than a Christian nation. You can have a Christian one-man business more easily than a Christian corporation. You can have a Christian church more readily than a Christian school. But you can come closest to a Christian group, 100 per cent, in a Christian home than anywhere else in the world.

Home Has Its Problems

A good Christian home is not automatic. Its praises can be sung too loudly. In sentimental moods people talk and write poems and even preach about the home as if it were just naturally a heaven on earth. Nonsense! Like all good things it has to be planned and worked out. Or again, they talk about the Great American Home as if it were a special product of this American nation. But there were homes before America was discovered. There are good homes wherever Christians are—in China, Africa, India, Fiji. There is no magic about America that makes an American home the best on earth. It is Christianity, not race or geography, that makes the best homes. A Christian home in Madagascar is likely to be better than a non-Christian home in Memphis.

Dr. Foreman

But even a Christian home has its problems. How can old and young live happily under the same roof when "happy" doesn't mean the same thing at six, sixteen and sixty? How can you have an Executive Committee (husband and wife) with no one to break a tie vote? How can a father steer between being too strict and not being strict enough? How can a growing child learn independence without wrecking the place? Of course home has its problems. Life has its problems, and you don't get rid of them even when every one concerned is a practicing Christian. . . .

Some Christian Intentions

One reason why a home can be more nearly Christian than any other social group, is that you can come nearer sharing the same basic intentions in that group than in any other. One intention that must be woven into a true home is that of permanence. Homes cannot claim to be Christian if they are no more than campsites. If husband and wife are not in it for keeps, they lack the first of all intentions that keep a home together. Further, a home that is Christian will welcome children. If children are accepted grudgingly, if they are thought of mainly as "mouths to feed," "brats," it is not a Christian home. Another Christian intention is the Golden Rule. "Be done by as you did" is somebody else's rule, not Christ's. If you go looking for slights and insults, if you go around insisting always on your "rights," if you have a chronically unforgiving spirit, you don't fit into a Christian home. . . .

Christ in the Home

There is a motto sometimes seen on a wall: "Christ is the Head of This House." What does it mean to have Christ in the house? His picture on the wall won't do it, though it may help. Pious mottoes won't do it unless they express the real heart of those who live there. What does it mean to have Christ, not as an obscure occasional guest, not a stranger, but as Head of the house? He is Head when his ideas are known, followed and loved. He is Head when every one has the habit of thinking, Is this what He would do? He is Head when his spirit is in every heart. He said himself that he came not to be served but to serve; and the Christian home is one where every member of it carries out that purpose of Christ. When in a home there is prayer each day in His name—that is to say, when all the daily prayers of the family are not just "Gimme" prayers but such as Christ Himself would endorse, when time is taken out every day for prayer and all together at least once in the twenty-four hours think quietly about what it means to be Christian, then it is more and more likely that Christ will be truly the Head of that house. The problems will be there, and they will not be easy even for Christians; but no problem of Christian living, even at close range, is impossible when Christians work them out together in His name. . . .

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. Acts 4:20

After the Grand Jury was impaneled and sent down stairs to perform its many tasks, it looked like everything was in fair shape with Max Yeager of the pint-size beat and Carl Edson of Beat 5 acting as guardians of the door. Whether Max was watching Carl, or Carl watching Max, I just don't know. Anyway, the arrangement was perfect.

Thanks to Mrs. J. W. Riley of Chicago for a miniature set of false teeth attached to a key ring, which she mailed me. I recall that some years ago, Mrs. Riley, an oldtime subscriber, mailed be an itinerary of her one copy of the GCW after it reached Chicago. It went to Cousin.

this, then to Uncle that, then to brother-in-law the other, until, after about ten days it got back to her dog-eaten and torn up. It seems there is a big nest of the Riley connection in Chicago and every member is hungry for home news. Fortunately for the continuity of the Riley name, there is plenty of them still left in Duck Hill.

I guess Bill Minga is just about the very first person that I ever knew.

This is just pure-d hearsay: about one of the younger Morgans being beat up with a blackjack by a member of the city "law". The hearsay tale is that Morgan just got back from Korea. I don't know whether that is true because, especially in Grenada, one can hear a lot of things.

FROSTY MEAL

Frosty refrigerator meals sound cool and wonderful—and they can be. For those humid days when you just can't fathom a hot meal, prepare your supper in the morning! Spend your afternoon doing other things, then all you have to do at night is remove the delicious ready meal from the refrigerator. Such a complete refrigerator menu, containing both nourishment and hot weather appeal, may be prepared and left in your refrigerator until time to serve.

Jellied Tomato Bouillon
Avocado and Shrimp Salad with Glazed French Dressing
Celery, Carrots and Olives
Floating Island Iced Tea

week and saw him and wife early Monday morning. Their kids still look on Grenada as "home," and so do the older Krestels.

I tried to see, but did not see a car in which there was said to have been 6 or 7 bullet holes which were said to have come from a pistol of a member of the city "law". It seems that a couple of kids were driving recklessly around town. I hear the City would get the bill for repair on the car's body.

There certainly is a godawful stink floating in from the river where garbage is burned these days. My suggestion is this: get some fellow of that stinking area, like John Taylor, to be elected to the board and he will raise so much hell that he will do something about this stinking smoke.

Did I mention that our Arlington, Va. subscriber, retired Col. Percy Duggins, recently renewed. In that highly condensed area, across the river from Washington in Virginia, they have a unique form of local government. The town and the coun ty have been combined so that there is just ONE local government, a sort of town-county affair, one of the few such legal arrangements in the nation. Some day, in the far-distant future, one-town counties like Grenada and Grenada County in Mississippi, will find it necessary to combine their functions. The town of Grenada as of today pays something like 75 percent of the total taxes paid into the county treasury.

Mary Jones did not even wait to lock. She knew she was about to become "out", and paid up right on the dot.

I quit fishing again Saturday.

Jack McRee considered to be Chip Barwick's star Chevrolet salesman, visited homefolks in Grenada and Hecomb last week and I think he, too, has quit fishing his end ways and he is on the way to up-town. The name of McRee reminds me of a heap of things, like old man R. A. McRee who started the family fortune from a meager beginning at a country store at Parsons, and how he and Dr. Semmes, Henry Ray Coker, Morrison, Blanton, Dunham and a heap of others used to play marbles in the court house yard in Grenada. If Mr. McRee's uncle knew ledge of cotton, and of many other things connected with this lost bus inessman of Grenada County.

Sit back, relax and let your automatic GAS range do the work this summer.

You'll have a COOLER KITCHEN with a new automatic Gas range

HERE'S WHY!

Fully insulated ovens in modern gas ranges keep heat inside where it gives even baking results. And Gas lets you keep the broiler shut—so heat is always in your broiler—not in your kitchen.

Instant on, instant off automatically, at the turn of a knob. Gas goes to work in a second without long warm-up time and gas burners don't throw waste heat after you are through cooking.

Gas broiling is smokeless. Test for yourself by holding a match over a lighted cigarette. See how the flame eats up every wisp of smoke. That's the way gas consumes any smoke from broiling. And a gas range costs less to buy, less to install and less to use!

Summer Heat Makes Hens Drowsy

Egg prices are higher than last year but hens must lay to be profitable. Many good hens that could be profitable are thrown out of condition during hot weather by mistakes or carelessness in management and feeding.

The methods of getting hens to lay in hot weather are many, but they are all directed toward getting them to eat or making them comfortable so they will want to eat.

To maintain high egg production and take advantage of the favorable egg prices this summer, do these things:

1. Cull and sell broody hens. Occasionally a broody hen will return to profitable laying, but the feed she eats is usually worth more than the eggs she lays.
2. Eggs contain about 65 percent water. Hens can't lay without water. Keep cool, clean water in handy places. Hens like running water best.
3. Open the laying house for maximum ventilation - especially at night.
4. Use early morning lights to encourage hens to eat while it's cool.
5. Examine birds frequently for lice and mites. At first signs treat.
6. Keep a good laying mash before the birds all the time and then "top feed" 6 pounds of pellets per 100 birds at noon.
7. Keep hens confined near feed and water each day until at least 2 p. m. Then the birds are more apt to eat and drink all they need.

Although it is sometimes difficult to keep hens laying satisfactorily during hot weather, following the above and other good management practices will prove that it can be done. The present high price of eggs makes the effort very worthwhile.

HAXBY'S WILL PROBATED

The essential points in the will of the late John H. Haxby, who died last week, were: that debts, if any, be paid by Harry N. Rayburn, named executor by the will; that Mr. Rayburn shall serve with minimum red-tape; that a suitable marker be placed on his grave; that Roger I. Bell, his faithful clerk, and his half-niece, Miss Ruby Brady of St. Louis, each receive a thousand dollars; each of his two nephews, A. H. Brady and Francis Brady, receive $200.00; and that remainder of the net estate be divided equally between the 1st Baptist Church of Grenada and the Old Mens' Home in Jackson.

No estimate has yet been publicized about the value of the estate.

Marcus Lancaster had about the easiest job? at court, just sitting and, sometimes, thinking.

OUR court aint never been the same since Nink Perry used to have the job of yelling "O R D E R" in the court."

There was quite a feature story by Eldon Roak in the Press-Scimitar the other day, referring to Harry Ratliff, retired Memphis mail carrier, and his white friend, Mr. Ham, a retired white mail carrier, the former taking dictation from the latter. Harry was reared here in Grenada and was one of the sons of Aunt Liza Ratliff and was a friend and playmate of the then little white boys, like Hurd Horton, Ben Adams, Harry Campbell and myself, who lived in the same neighborhood on or near South Street. PS: Aunt McElwath brought me the clipping.

Then I remember Mary McRee, Fulton's wife, and of how pretty she was when she was a bride, and, for that matter, how nice and pretty she is today.

I think of Fulton and his numerous hunting dogs who almost lived during the school terms on the scraps from the discarded lunches of the kids at Holcomb School. It looks like Fulton has his best time when he has with him a gang of colored tenants. While he appears to be harum-scarum always, he seems to have got by for many years and in the meantime, enjoyed himself. He is never happier than out on the lake somewhere, either paddling for Mary McRee and Helen Gibson, or out with Pidd Bloodworth harpooning some poor buffalo fish.

There's the other McRee son, Dick Jr., up in Iuka. It seems that Dick like his old daddy, has worked awfully hard always, but never did have the good times that Fulton appears to have experienced during the years since their daddy's death.

Kirk McRee, youngest of Fulton and Mary McRee's sons, is another member of this fine family and, like his grandpaw and his uncle Dick, appears to want to work occasionally.

Griffis Meek walked into White Lake one day last week. Griffis doesn't want to get that jeep muddy.

HELPFUL HINTS ON LIGHTING

- When the inside of a bulb becomes blackened, relegate it for duty in a closet, storage room or attic where it will be used occasionally. Put new bulbs in your important reading lamps and fixtures. There may be plenty of life in the blackened bulb but it can waste as much as 25 per cent of the light.
- Remove cellophane wrapping from shade when lamp is put to use. Heat from the bulb and climatic conditions affect the cellophane and cause it to shrink, bending the frame and wrinkling the silk. To keep shades clean use shade covers which are made for this purpose and will not distort the shape of the shade.
- Lamp shade sizes are designed by width of the bottom diameter. As a rule you use:
4" candle shades for side lights and chandeliers.
8" and 10" shades for boudoir, pin-to-wall and novelty lamps.
12" shades for bridge lamps.
14" and 16" shades for table lamps.
18" and 20" shades for floor lamps.
- The small decorative ornament screwed on top of lamp shade is called a finial. They may be purchased separately in lamp departments.
- Lamp bases last longer if they are waxed. Wood bases and all types of metal bases other than chrome, should first be dusted with a soft cloth, then covered with a thin coat of wax and polished with a dry cloth. Glass, pottery, marble and onyx bases can be washed.

Construction Begins On New Rural Telephone Project In Scott County

Preparing to drive the first construction stake on new rural telephone project at Harpersville are (left to right): Earl Johnson, Editor Scott County Times; Marx Huff, Forest Attorney; J. W. Frazier, Telephone construction man; Forest Mayor, Hugh Lee; O. P. Brown, Meridian Group Manager for Southern Bell; G. W. Hardin, Jackson, representing the Telephone Company's Rural Development Department; D. C. Smith, Harpersville Merchant and Mrs. Smith; and F. H. Daggett, Meridian Telephone Company construction man.

Feature Of Undertaking Will Be New Switching Unit At Harpersville

FOREST—Stakes are being set for an extension of the rural telephone facilities of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company to serve a large farming area of Scott County, north of here, and actual construction will begin at an early date, according to E. R. Richey of Meridian, District Manager for the Telephone Company.

The undertaking will include a modern rural dial switching unit which will be installed in a building to be constructed for the purpose and leased to the telephone company.

These rural dial switching units are a type of equipment which facilitate the extension of modern dial telephone service to wider areas of farm territory than would be possible otherwise. Sixteen such units have been installed at as many points in Mississippi during the past several years and more are to come soon, Mr. Richey states.

Lines from the new dial switching unit at Harpersville will serve additional farm homes and rural business houses in the vicinity of that town; along new Highway 27 to the Hillsboro Community and for several miles along the Harpersville-Lena Road to a point beyond the community of Lili'an.

The project, when completed, will provide approximately 75 additional homes and business houses in an area of about 50 square miles with modern rural dial telephone service.

The dial switching unit at Harpersville will be connected by trunk lines to the exchange at Forest. It will be considered a part of this exchange and so will all of the telephones connected to it. The monthly rates paid by these new customers will entitle them to an unlimited number of calls to any other local telephone connected to the Forest exchange without any additional charge.

These new telephones will raise the total number of rural telephones connected to the exchange at Forest to approximately 165.

According to Southern Bell Representatives, the total cost of the new project will be approximately $30,000. It will require the erection of about 300 new poles, and telephone facilities will be placed on a considerable number of poles belonging to the Central Electric Power Association by a joint-use rental agreement between the two utilities.

In addition, over 72 miles of open wire and large quantities of cross arms, anchors and other material will be required for the completion of the new rural telephone project.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR MRS. CLAUD TALBERT PARKER
On Saturday afternoon, July 25, Mrs. R. A. Clanton was hostess at a lovely party at her home honoring her friend Mrs. Claud T. Parker, who on that day celebrated her birthday.

Friends of Mrs. Parker's younger days were included as guests and each one brought "Miss Claud" a lovely gift.

During the social hour the ladies traveled memory lane, recalling only the sweet and enjoyable events of their lives.

The hostess served cake, ice cream and fresh peaches as a dessert course.

Friends present included: Mrs. Parker, the honoree; Mesdames A. L. O'Brian, Claud Hall, Virginia McCracken, R. B. Townes, Sr. Jesse Perry, J. B. Perry Sr., Claud Perry and Misses Eva Ray and Alice Payne Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed McCormick and three children and Mrs. McCormick's mother, Mrs. Meek Townes, were guests early this week of Mrs. Nan McCormick.

Mrs. Kyle Cooper of Clarksdale spent Wednesday here. She told us that she and Klye plan a motor trip through the mountain Skyline section of the East, will visit Washington, D. C. and other cities of interest. They will be away two weeks.

I thought that High Pockets, alias Sam Ferguson, was like all Ferguson, from Little Texas. As a matter of fact, his folks moved from Little Texas to Providence when he was a little boy, so I was not far wrong at that.

2 birds with one stone: Dr. Moore Moore of Memphis and Mrs. J. T. Gabbert of Senatobia.

Our cool spell was short-lived. The thermometer outside our office was 106 at 3 o'clock Wednesday.

"SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD BY THE EDITOR"
We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard. Acts 4:20

The McRees were in and out of our home at Oxberry when the kids were growing up and, even today, after the lapse of a good many years, we get nostalgic about the happy days of the past when they return to our minds. Jack and Whyte Jr. were, and still are big buddies; Andrew and Kirk are about the same age.

Dick, now a banker up in Iuka, married Sharkey Pate's daughter, Henrietta. They, too, like Fulton and Mary, and like Mabel and me, have kids and grandkids, and, thank God, all of us still think a heap of the others.
